

Abstract of the Disclosure

An instant messaging (IM) system has an IM server connected to a communication network, and logic operable on the IM server enabling a 5 first user to browse contacts associated with a second user. In some cases the first user can add and list contacts accessed by browsing the contacts associated with the second user.